

CLOSING THE GAP AT PALM ISLAND

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME

The Palm Island Community Development Programme (CDP) is a remote employment and community development service. Palm Island CDP aims to help people find work, while allowing them to contribute to their communities and gain skills at the same time.

Campbell Page has been supporting the Palm Island community and its employment programs since 2013. Palm Island CDP commenced in 2015 and the team has since been dedicated to creating employment opportunities and helping people find great jobs.

The program works by creating activities that are meaningful to the individual and have a positive impact on the community, while also helping people learn new skills and build brighter futures. The Palm Island CDP team also work with the community to help people overcome any challenges they may face along the way, so that everyone has the opportunity to be the best they can be.

CDP SUCCESS STORY

My name is Ian Palmer and this is my story:

I am a proud man, and a father of 6 beautiful kids - four boys and two girls. Before I learnt how to paint, my life was headed in a very different direction.

I was sent to prison on a domestic violence charge, after I had failed to appear at court.

It wasn't that I didn't want to go to court, my head just wasn't in a place where I could see things clearly, which was partly because I was mourning the death of my mother and brother.

Two months later I handed myself in to the police and was sentenced to five months in prison. When the judge sent me to prison I felt happy and a big relief came over me. This meant that I could have a break from life and reset my life.

During the five months in prison I learnt how to paint. My paintings gave me a way of expressing my feelings and controlling my anger issues. I completed a certificate II in arts and started to feel strong again.

I want to show my kids and my family that domestic violence is wrong and you can do great things for your people and community.

I started the Campbell Page Arts Activity as a job seeker 4 months ago. I am now a supervisor for Campbell Page in the Arts and Culture Activity.

I am proud that they have taken me on board and have supported me with employment and my art work.

I am now hoping to use my art work as the Campbell Page branding on Palm Island and feel that this is a great connection between Palm Island and Campbell Page.

If you or someone you know is experiencing domestic violence or finds this content unsettling, please contact 1800RESPECT Australia's National Domestic Violence Helpline or Lifeline on 13 11 14.
